

On 5 October 2011, The Consul General of Malta in Istanbul Reuben Gauci met high profile members of The Association of International Educational Counselors, Turkey (UED).

UED is an organization which joins together Turkey's leading International Educational Consulting Firms. UED was formed in 2001 by 15 companies committed to maintaining high quality and professional standards in advising thereby ensuring an exceptional service for students that want to pursue their education abroad. A number of agents promoting and selling Malta for Educational purposes are members of this association.

The UED representatives said that the market for Turkish students coming to Malta to learn English was in good shape and expressed the wish that more Turkish students come to Malta to learn English in the future. They also informed the Consul General that they were planning to visit Malta on a familiarisation visit in November 2011. The Consul General presented books about Malta to the esteemed members of the association.
